

Wanderers are home at last!

IT'S a case of home at last for Wycombe Wanderers tomorrow (Saturday) when the Blues stage their first Rothmans Isthmian League game at Loakes Park since February 19. Their opponents are Sutton United.

Wanderers, now managed by John Reardon following the departure of Ted Powell, hope to have John Maskell back in goal. He has been struggling with a back injury but trained on Tuesday. Peter Cruse is unlikely to play as he is still troubled by a groin strain.

This could leave the way clear for Graham Mackenzie to come into the side. 'Jock' will soon finish his term at college and will be bidding for a regular midfield place in the side.

Sutton have been going through a lean spell since the New Year and Tuesday night's 1-0 win over Hitchin was only their second in 14 games. Alan Pentecost is their manager and he took over when Dario Gradi joined Derby County as assistant manager.

This signalled a number of moves inside the club with leading goalscorer Steve Cosham joining Woking, Trevor Bladon retiring and Mick Preston also joining Woking in a player exchange deal with Paul McKinnon.

One man Wycombe will have to watch is Ricky Kidd. It was his goal that defeated Hitchin on Tuesday and he also scored the only goal of the game when Wanderers lost 1-0 at Gander Green Lane earlier this season.
